

Family Name:

First Name:

Hello, my name is Sam. I want to talk about changing my job to do something I really like. For a long time, I worked in a place that was ok but didn't make me happy. I loved graphic design and always did it as a hobby. I thought, why not do what I love for work?

Deciding to change was a stressful for me. I was scared of not having enough money and maybe not being good at my new job. But I didn't want to stay unhappy. So, I talked to my family and they told me to go for it.

I started taking a course in graphic design while still working. It was hard to manage everything. However, I was excited. I got better and started making my own designs. Now I am working towards becoming a graphic designer. I have learned that it is important to do what make us happy.
